Practical Nursing Program Application Limit Policy

Standard Healthcare Services, College of Nursing is committed to providing as many qualified applicants as possible with an opportunity to pursue a nursing education. Because space in the Practical Nursing Program is limited and demand for admission remains high, the College has established criteria for considering previously enrolled students for future admission in the program.

Effective immediately, an individual who has previously enrolled in the College's Practical Nursing Program and has failed Anatomy & Physiology twice will no longer be considered for admission to a future Practical Nursing Program. If an individual who is not eligible for consideration under this policy submits a subsequent application and application fee, the application fee will be refunded.

This policy is intended to expand access to the Practical Nursing Program by providing more qualified applicants with an opportunity to pursue their nursing education.
